Swaziland, the smallest nation in Africa, is being devastated by HIV/AIDS. Thousands of children are left with no one to care for them. Life expectancy has dropped to twenty-nine years of age. But God has a plan, and there is a place on Bethany Mountain where the sounds of laughter, joy, and music can be heard! New Hope Centre is home to orphan children who are overcoming their fears, losses, and hopelessness, and developing into leaders who have a lively confidence in God. His Majesty King Mswati III, reigning King of Swaziland, wants more homes like this one as these children are already making waves towards taking their nation to a place of prominence among the nations of the world. They are "orphans today. . . leaders tomorrow."
