This volume features 10 novels -five of them official best sellers- by best-selling American writer of fiction, essays, and non-fiction during the first half of the 20th century, Harold Bell Wright. He became the first American writer to sell a million copies of a novel and the first to make $1 million from writing fiction. More than 15 movies were made from his stories, including Gary Cooper's first major movie, The Winning of Barbara Worth (1926) and the John Wayne film, The Shepherd of the Hills (1941).

Beginning with That Printer of Udell's, this former pastor attacked the hypocrisy and impractical nature of popular churches. To Wright, hard work, integrity and concrete efforts to aid people in need were far more important than church doctrines or sermons.
